
Impact Theatre Players

This reporter would like to give a special word of acknowledgement and appreciation to those players of Impact Theatre who attend other Christian churches in the community, not members of Living Word. I would like them to know that their work for the Lord does not go unnoticed, unappreciated.

In my brief exposure to Impact Theatre, I have witnessed actors who show up for rehearsal even when they haven't felt all that well. Diane Roof, as well as Frank Irace have been there for rehearsal even when their voices could hardly be heard, but they were there.

Impact Theatre presented

the same format given at Living Word at the Palmyra Town Hall on October the 21st. It was during this time Bob Bitner (the guy who was in all nine plays) gave his all in spite of the discomfort of a kidney stone performing its nasty act. Thank you Bob, Diane, and all the other dedicated members of the troupe of Impact Theatre.

Somewhere in this newsletter appears an appeal, an opportunity for it's readers to volunteer their service as future players in Impact Theatre. I can only say it will prove to be a worthwhile mission for those dedicated and committed to the Lord's work.
